Between the hours of nine and eleven o'clock, on Wednesday se'nnight; the bank of John P.edmond, Esq. of Wäterlord; was broken into, and one of the desks ferced; out of which were taken a number of country bank notes and some silver. It is slipposed that the burglary was committed by a person who lay concealed under one of the compters until the bank was closed for the day. A reward of 1001: has been offered for the conviction of any of the persons concerbed in said burglary and robbery.

"Freeman's Journal" – 19 May 1810